I think the 120 days is advisable because it has been 6 months since the Boston meeting, and we have not gotten very far in this process since then. I proposed 120 days so that we would have enough time. If we ask for less, say 90 days, there is a very strong likelihood that we won't be done yet regardless of how quickly Epiq moves. I am trying to ensure that we do not have to repeat this process or appear before the Court to explain why we cannot complete tasks in the time-period we said we could.

I expect to have confirmation back from Switch today on the length of the stay. I suspect they may want a shorter time period in order to hold Epiq's feet to the fire, based on their recent experiences with them.
